FOOD PRODUCTS

This concept introduces a minimalist symbol composed of a pili nut and leaf forming the letter “B.” The icon represents growth, sustainability, and the natural origin of the product. Paired with a clean wordmark, the design creates a modern and flexible identity that can be easily applied across different brand materials such as packaging, signage, and promotional media.

Design and Rationale

The logo combines typography and kitchen tools to form a hidden boat silhouette a nod to the owner's background as a seafaring woman. "Elsie's" is written in Avenue de Madison, a warm gold script that gives the brand a handmade, personal feel. Below it, "Food Product" is set in bold dark brown block letters, solid and legible. A wok on the left and a spatula on the right. Together, they also form a boat when the letters are read away. The color palette gold, dark brown, and olive green keeps the mark warm, natural, and grounded.

The mark integrates a spiral shell at its center, surrounded by finger like forms that read as a hand cradling the shell connecting the natural material to the human craft behind it. The brand name and descriptor curve around the mark in Almond Milk font, a rounded, playful typeface that keeps the logo warm and approachable.

ND Paje's
FOOD PRODUCT

The mark draws the letters N, D, and P within the boundary of a star form, collapsing the brand initials and the quality symbol into a single unified shape. The Calibri and Montserrat Alternates, a pairing that balances familiarity with clean geometric character.

The mark shapes the letter "N" as a tongue, paired with a licking lips expression that wraps the base of the wordmark embedding appetite and enjoyment directly into the brand name itself. The Cattyla and Montserrat Alternates, a pairing that balances expressive personality with clean, legible structure. The deep red and olive green palette gives the mark a warm, food appropriate character that feels both inviting and grounded.

LEONOR
Seashells Handicraft

The mark builds a seashell from three layered elements: a wave silhouette, a hand, and the outline of Mayon volcano at the base each adding a layer of meaning around place, craft, and the sea. The Mayon silhouette gives it a local identity. The Bevellier and Sitka, a pairing that balances decorative character with readable clarity. The teal and sandy palette reinforces the coastal identity of the brand.

The mark embeds a cup and spoon directly into the letter "M" of the brand name. The cup lid sits above the letter like a crown. The Clavasta, a bubbly, rounded typeface that gives the composition a playful and inviting energy consistent with a refreshment brand. The deep purple and warm cream palette feels indulgent and approachable in equal measure.
